

New Lab/Grant Leads

New Lab Start-up

If you are starting a new laboratory or receiving a research grant you may be eligible to receive significant discounts from participating companies. To learn more about these discounts, simply select the companies from which you have an interest in receiving information, Biocompare will forward your contact information to the selected companies, and you will receive detailed information within a few weeks. Participating companies will send you catalogs, pricing information, and/or contact you in person or by email.
